PEACE AGREEMENTS CAN BE REACHED, BYRNES THINKS

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Returning with him were his two advisers from Capitol Hill, Senators Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the foreign relations committeee, and Vandenberg (R-Mich), leading GOP spokesman on ernational matters.

Russia Backs Down

When Byrnes left for Paris 23 he publicly expressed his own feelings about the prospects for agreement with Russia on a European peace by telling reporters that if he were to comment on his mission he would have to put it in terms of the old hymn, "Standing In The Need Of Prayer."

At that time he had in mind the possibility of a complete and final failure to reach peace-agreements Britain, France and United to an annual productice capacity States splitting sharply away of $400,000,000,000 in goods and from Russia. What actually hap

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington - The threatened railroac strike illustrates how labor politics can turn just as many somersaults as anything else on the Washington Merry-Go-Round.

For instance, the two rail brotherhood chiefs who called the strike, A. F. Whitney of the trainmen and Alvaney Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers,

Pearson is by one Harry S. Truman. Two years ago, Harry Truman was whipping the brotherhoods toward wage increases, now the same Harry Truman is trying to hold the whip-hand over a rail

At that time—the end of 1943—Senator Truman had introduced a resolution providing an 8-cents-an-hour increase for railroad workers. FDR, however, opposed. And, at a meeting with the Brotherhood leaders in December 1943, FDR had some strong words to say about the pay hike proposed by the man who was to succeed

"If Congress passes the Truman resolution," he decreed, "I shall veto it. And I shall veto any other attempt by a small group to get theirs at the expense of the nation. This is not government," he continued; "That is government by blackmail. I am shocked to come back from the battlefront, where everyone is doing such a good job, and find talk of a railroad strike."

TWO BROTHERHOODS TO FLIP-FLOP

Today, Harry Truman not only finds himself trying to prevent a higher wageboost than that already given rail workers by an arbitration board-$1.28 per day -but he also finds himself with the two rail leaders who helped Roosevelt arbitrate, now flatly opposed to arbitration.

Do you know the answers? A QUIZ BASED ON THE ANNUAL REPORT JUST ISSUED BY THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY (INDIANA) Most of you may know little about us except that nearly everywhere you ordinarily drive your car you can roll up to a Standard Oil pump and say "Fill 'er up!" But, because what we do affects your life in so many other ways, we'd like to take you behind the scenes to see some of the things we've been doing of late. We think it might prove more interesting to do it in the form of a quiz-which won't be any great brain-twister, as the answers are

. In how much of the United States directly below the questions.

Like most of Mr. & Mrs. and raised" in these north central states. From them we have spread out either directly or through subsidiary companies until now we market in 40 of the 48 states. We market in 15 of these states under the Standard Oil name.

How does Standard of Indiana compare in size with other oil companies?

There are larger oil companies and smaller ones, but it's generally known, of course, that ours is one of the largest. To bring you high grade petroleum products, wherever and whenever you want them, takes almost limitless facilities and equipment, and the skill and experience of many people. America needs big business as well as small, so long as competition is fair. We think ours has been fair. It must have been, for there are many more small competing companies in our territory, doing very nicely, than there were earlier in our history.

. Just how large is Standard of Indiana's business?

In terms of crude oil and refined products sold in 1945, it totaled 215,000,000 barrels. Transportation of this made a lot of business for pipe line men, railway men and truckers. And it provided the stock in trade for 27,765 small businessmen, the independent operators of service stations handling our products. Similarly, our payments, in connection with crude oil produced and purchased, were a source of income to thousands of land owners and independent oil producers.

1. Is Standard of Indiana active in the discovery of new oil fields?

Our search is never-ending. We have drilled wells in 19 different states. Last year, our drilling was carried on in such varied places as West Texas, the Gulf Coast, and Northwest Colorado, To those distant areas, we also extended our pipe lines to bring the crude oil to our refineries. Such operations are necessary if we are to continue to deliver gasoline in Sault Ste. Marie, Kokomo, and thousands of other towns and cities. If we Mid-America, hadn't operated on a big, efficient, and economical scale, you wouldn't have been able to buy that gallon of gasoline for about the price of a pack of ciga-

. What was the income of Standard Oil (Indiana), and what was done with it?

In 1945, we received for crude oil, products, etc., $627,626,612. Out of each dollar, the owners of the business—the stockholders—received only 3.7 cents. It took 57 cents of each Standard Oil (Indiana) dollar to pay for materials, transportation, and operating costs; 19.2 cents were paid to employees (including employee benefits); 15.5 cents went for taxes, depreciation and other costs; and 4.4 cents were retained for development of the business.

W. Why was more money retained in the business than was paid out in divi-

Because we must spend about $150,~ 000,000, this year if possible, to make improvements we couldn't make during the war and to build new equipment needed to keep pace with technological progress. Such expe ditures give the public better products and service, support the jobs of employees, and make investments in our business more secure.

. How many people own Standard Oil

97,166 stockholders ownour$819,659,938 of net assets. No individual among them owns as much as 1 per cent of the stock. The largest stockholder is not a person, but an institution for the public welfare, and it owns between 4 and 5 per cent. Among the stockholders are 684 charities, churches, educational institutions, etc.; 10,296 other corporations, insurance companies, protective organizations, etc.; and 39,631 women.

O. How many people are in the employ of Standard Oil (Indiana) and how do they get along together?

There are 36,332 men and women employed in the various departments and subsidiaries of the company. Longestablished plans for vacations with pay, sickness and disability compensation, and old-age retirement have helped stabilize our relations with employees.

We have striven for and believe we have achieved good relations and mutual understanding with our employees, both non-union and union. We have entered into contracts with 108 separate union organizations.

. What is Standard of Indiana doing in research?

Our research expenditures last year were $3,700, 000. New laboratories, now under construction near the refinery at Whiting, Indiana, will enable us to double our present research staff there to number some 420 scientists and 800 assistants and technicians. The primary aim of this research is to give you constantly more and better products; however, our researchers will follow up their more promising discoveries wherever they may lead.

10. And what makes "the wheels go 'round"?

We continue in business to make money, The stockholders, who invest their savings in our tools and equipment, are entitled to a reasonable return. So are the employees, who do the work. We make money for many of you when we supply you energy-packed products for profitable use at little cost. The hope of profit has resulted in the production in America of more of the good things of life-for more people-than any other nation has produced at any time in

Our hope of benefit, for all concerned, causes us to seek new ways to serve you, to build new research laboratories, to improve our properties in your communities, and to ways that we must treat youour customersthe way you want to be treated.

Good Blueprints Assure You A Beautiful Home A Good Mortgage Assures You a Home of Your Own

No matter how carefully you plan your home — from the blueprint stage until it's finally finished — only a carefully planned mortgage can give that home to you. Let The Escanaba National Bank help plan your mortgage for you. Make sure the mortgage on your home is of the "self-paying" type which will lead to a clear title to your home at the end of a stated number of years. To Build a Home

By Perry Williams
Home Planning Expert

O YOU want to build a house! You've joined the millions of couples all over the country with the same idea. You're probably one of the throng that barks his shins or tears her nylons, climbing around building projects on week-ends. To you, building a house is an important problem, like getting married or raising a family. And rightly so, because it may involve the largest investment you'll ever make. You want your house to last a life-time without expensive repairs.

You've heard about leaky roofs, damp cellars, sticking doors and drafty windows. You'd like to know how they can be avoided. And how you can have a cool house in summer and a warm one in winter. Or how you can save on the cost

Home-building authorities urge you to build in a section within reach of your budget. Select a lot on firm ground, in a neighborhood that has paved streets, sewers, schools and transportation.

Make frequent inspections of materials that go into the house. Compare them with others as to cost and durability. Ask questions of your contractor to keep him on his toes.

Examine the foundation. It should be solid to insure against settling, and waterproofed to keep dampness from seeping through. Basement should be high enough for a recre-

Building framework should be nailed securely and sturdily, with joists and studding placed at least 16 inches on centers. This will prevent shaky walls, floors, and rattling window frames. Wood, stone and brick are still the best materials available for exterior finish.

 $A_{\,\,\mathrm{U.~S.}}^{\,\,\mathrm{CCORDING}}$ to tests made by the thick mineral wool insulation in walls and ceilings will effect savings in fuel up to 40 per cent, and keep the house as much as 15 per cent cooler in summer. It's fireresistant and will pay for its install-men over sturdy boards and rafters to prevent leaks later. Make sure the chimney is higher than the peak of the roof to insure good draft. Inspect the flashing between the chimney and the shingles. This is used to keep the roof tight.

The roof of the house bears the brunt of the weather's assault. Check for the best grade of shingles. They should be laid by good crafts- tional pointers.

Paint and hardware should be of the best brands. The same goes for flooring and finish woods. Gutterspouts should be of long-lasting metal and door and window frames should be of standard size, Plumbing and wiring has to be passed by inspectors, but fixtures should be chosen with care.

These brief pointers passed along to you by building authorities will assure you a strong, durable and well-built house. It will be a home you'll be proud of because you had a part in it's building. And by following these instructions, you'll get value received.

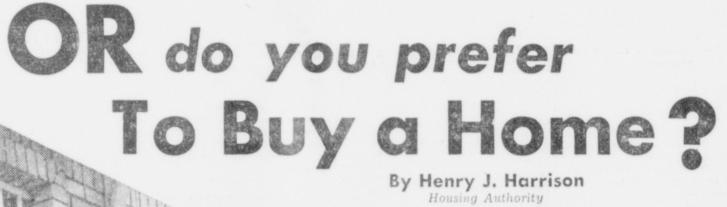

Check picture captions for addi-

FIRM FOUNDATION prevents sagging. The foundation should be waterproofed so that dampness will not seep in.

FLOORING will be sturdy if joists are close together. They should be a maximum of 18 inches apart to prevent shaking.

O MOST American families, the greatest step of a lifetime is the buying of a home. More war-bond money has been ear-marked for this than for any other single ex-

"Look before you leap" is a good motto to follow when houseshopping. You'll have to live with your mistakes for a long time, so it's important that you don't let yourself trip into a pitfall that may turn a dream-house into a heart-break house.

Check step by step. Consider the community you want to live in. Do other home-owners in the neighborhood have civic pride, and keep their homes and grounds well? Are neighborhood shopping centers, churches and other conveniences nearby? Are there play areas for the children? Is the exterior of the house pleasing, and in scale with its surroundings? Are the exterior construction and materials such that they will resist weather conditions? Will the exterior finish require constant costly upkeep? Does the material have insulating value?

If a frame or stucco house is in good condition inside, but the exterior is in need of modernizing, don't pass up the house. The application of an inselbric exterior sidewall insulation board will perform several functions at once: It will give the house a smart, permanently new look; it will insulate the house and provide cool comfort in summer, cozy warmth in winter; and it will eliminate costly paint and upkeep jobs. Take a tape measure with you when you inspect a house. Measure wall-spaces in the various rooms to make sure your furniture will fit.

Interior walls should be properly lathed and plastered. Dampness usually shows by weakened plaster which creaks, and in extreme cases, falls. Such conditions in plastering also indicate general weakness of the house.

A sagging ceiling means trouble ahead. Ask about any noticeable repairs or patches; also notice if the ceiling shows signs of leakage in roof or wall. Check the kitchen for convenience of arrangement, for adequacy of equipment, including wellplanned storage and work space. Check closets for location, convenience and size.

Warped doors often indicate that the house has settled and that the timbering is not heavy enough.

SOLIDLY BUILT? Check by jumping up and down in center of room. If house vibrates, it may not be well-constructed.

CEILING SOLID? Test plaster by tapping with broomstick.

ENOUGH TUB? Here's one way to avoid a tight squeeze.

FURNITURE FIT? Make sure by bringing a tape measure with you to check the wall space in the various rooms.

HOW'S THE KITCHEN? Cabinets too high, poor working space and bad arrangement wastes much time and energy.
